FINANCIAL. MONEY-Very little business beyon the regular daily routine is transpiring in local financial affairs worthy of special notice. The market is easy, with a good demend. Planters are leaving orders with banks to purchase railroad and other sebanks to purchase relitred and other securities, which shows an increase of prosperity. It takes about $55,000,000 to handle the cotton crup at this market. In addition to this, about $5,000,000 for other commodities. Now this amount is not sufficient to move the cotton crop, to say nothing of other commodities. Money of Eastern capitalists is of course employed to handle the crop, and it occurs to us that he can reasonably hold out handsome inducements for more banks. The simple statement is sufficient, without argument. By the first of the month business will be fairly opened.

Exchange—The rates of exchange are about the same as reported, and steady. Gollo—A dealer bought $1000 at 113%. The New York rates are steady at 114%.
